The University of Southern California's premier academic giving society since 1959

USC Associates

Overview

USC Associates is the University of Southern California's premier academic giving society. Its members are among the university's most loyal and enthusiastic leaders and supporters, funding students, faculty, and educational programs across our USC campuses.

USC Associates connects its members to each other and the university through shared values and a commitment to academic achievement. The USC Associates team plans events and facilitates individual requests for university-wide engagement opportunities.

Mission

Since its inception in 1959, USC Associates has worked to advance knowledge in the sciences, the humanities, and the professions by providing financial support for student scholarships, faculty awards, and academic programs at USC. Through the enthusiasm, loyalty, and leadership of its members, USC Associates has played an important role in making USC the world-class research institution that it is today, while also helping to attract the highest-caliber students and faculty. Since 2015, USC Associates has proudly awarded more than $1 million annually in merit-based student scholarships.
